

FCC CONSUMER ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Recommendation to Convene a Workshop to Assess Requirements for Wireless Medical Testbeds.

FCC should convene a workshop to explore streamlining experimental licensing for medical device experimentation; identifying tools and consensus standards to monitor and assess the performance of wireless technologies in healthcare environments; and to assess the need for national wireless medical testbed centers with equipment, expertise, licenses, and support staff. The Consumer Advisory Committee recommends this workshop to be convened within the next six months.

Adopted: March 28, 2014
